

For Roman Catholics, December 8th is celebrated as the Solemnity of the Immaculate Conception of the Blessed Virgin Mary!
[It is a Holyday of Obligation requiring participation in the Eucharistic Liturgy!]
As always, Mary brings us together to give glory to her Son!

What sources do Catholics use to draw upon for their reverence, their beliefs, and their devotions to Mary, the Mother of God?

Why Attend This Presentation?

Many Catholics assume that the Bible gives us a clear and unambiguous picture of the Mother of Jesus. On this celebration day of the Immaculate Conception, when we honor the role that Mary of Nazareth played in the history of salvation from the very beginning of her life, we will explore what the Sacred Scriptures actually say (and do not say) about the Blessed Virgin.

As a careful examination of the Bible shows us, Mary is portrayed in surprisingly different ways in the various biblical writings. St. Paul never mentions her, while the Gospels according to Mark and Matthew hardly ever do, and what they say is not all that positive! Only Luke and John contain the familiar stories involving Mary that were so influential in the development of Marian theology and piety.

Moreover, although some of the Church's Marian doctrines are obviously and directly based on the New Testament, other dogmas developed only gradually in the early Church, and continued to develop throughout the past two millennia.

Gaining a better understanding of the biblical texts related to Mary of Nazareth will help us not only to understand the Catholic doctrines and dogmas better, but also to understand how and why other Christians (both Eastern Orthodox and Western Protestants) understand her life and her role very differently.

Please bring your Bible, your questions, your friends, and your eagerness to explore our sacred scriptures and our Marian doctrines more deeply.
